INTRODUCTION

Symbols of Canadian Libraries, which was first published in 1957 by the National Library of Canada, appeared on an irregular basis until the sixth edition in 1975. It is now issued every two years. The publication consists of a list of symbols composed of from two to ten letters which represent the names of Canadian libraries or similar institutions. The symbols are used to identify the libraries or institutions cited in union lists or catalogues, in bibliographies, automated systems, interlibrary loan networks or other regional projects.

The symbols identify libraries by geographic location. Each symbol consists of three groups or blocks of letters: the first identifies the province; the second, the city; and the third, the library.

There is a detailed explanation of the symbols under the heading "Explanation of Symbols" on page v.

Symbols are rarely altered to reflect changes in library names. An exception is made when a library moves from one province to another. The National Library should, nevertheless, be notified of any change in name or address, in order to help us keep our records up to date.

Cross references are used to indicate a change of province or the amalgamation of two libraries, or to correct the assignment of two symbols to the same institution.

More than 300 new symbols and numerous cross references and modifications have been added since the last edition. New symbols, additions and changes are forwarded to the Library

INTRODUCTION

La publication de la Bibliothèque nationale du Canada, Sigles des bibliothèques canadiennes, qui a débuté en 1957, a d'abord paru de façon irrégulière pour devenir bisannuelle à sa sixième édition en 1975. Elle consiste en une liste de sigles de deux à dix lettres. Ces sigles identifient les bibliothèques canadiennes et les établissements analogues dans les listes et catalogues collectifs, les bibliographies, les systèmes automatisés, les réseaux de prêts entre bibliothèques et autres projets régionaux.

Les sigles représentent les bibliothèques selon leur situation géographique. Ils sont composés de trois groupes de lettres: le premier identifie la province; le deuxième, la ville, et le troisième, la bibliothèque proprement dite.

Vous trouverez une explication détaillée des sigles sous la rubrique "Explication des sigles" à la page v.

Quoique les modifications apportées au nom d'une bibliothèque n'influent pas sur le sigle, sauf si cette bibliothèque change de province, il serait tout de même souhaitable de signaler à la Bibliothèque nationale tout changement de nom ou d'adresse afin de nous aider à garder nos dossiers à jour.

Les renvois sont utilisés soit pour indiquer un changement de provinces ou le fusionnement de deux bibliothèques, soit pour corriger une double attribution de sigles à un même établissement.

Plus de 300 nouveaux sigles et de nombreux renvois et modifications ont été ajoutés à la dernière édition. Les révisions et les nouveaux sigles figurent chaque mois dans le Symbols of Congress every month and are published in Symbols of American Libraries, where Canadian symbols are preceded by the letters Ca. The National Library also reports new symbols, changes and deletions in the bi-monthly BiblioTech, publication of the National Library.

I would like to thank Mrs. Suzanne Beauchamp for helping me to revise the text and Mrs. Suzanne Villeneuve for typing it.

The National Library would appreciate notification of any errors or omissions, which will be corrected for the next edition. Please send any request for new symbols to:

EXPLANATION OF SYMBOLS

The symbols

Library symbols, composed of from 2 to 10 letters, serve to identify Canadian libraries by geographic location. Each symbol consists of 3 groups of letters. The first group, usually one letter but having two when beginning with "N", identifies the province; the second group, the city; and the third, the library. Public libraries, with a few exceptions, are represented by letters for province and city only.

Corporate names often contain several subdivisions. Multiple subdivisions which are part of a corporate name are listed in ascending hierarchical order in the alphabetical section of the Symbols book, e.g., Synod Office, Diocese of Saskatchewan, Anglican Church of Canada, Prince Albert.

In the symbol, on the other hand, the hierarchical order is reversed. Thus SPAASS represents the above institution:

S	Saskatchewan
PA	Prince Albert
A	Anglican Church
S	Diocese of Saskatchewan
S	Synod

Another example is QMRAD, which represents the Centre de documentation, Institut de recherche appliquée sur le travail, Montréal:

Q	Québec
M	Montréal
RA	Institut de recherche appliquée sur le travail
D	Centre de documentation

An attempt is made to assign symbols which are mnemonic in character. However, due to the occasional name changes of libraries and the proliferation of symbols, it is not always possible to apply mnemonic techniques.

EXPLICATION DES SIGLES

Les sigles

Les sigles de bibliothèque, formés de 2 à 10 lettres, servent à identifier les bibliothèques canadiennes par emplacement géographique. Trois groupes de lettres entrent dans la composition du sigle. Le premier, une lettre (deux s'il s'agit du "N"), identifie la province; le deuxième, une lettre ou plus, la ville; et le troisième, le nom de la bibliothèque. Les bibliothèques publiques ne sont représentées, en général, que par les deux premiers groupes.

Parfois le nom d'une collectivité est constitué de plusieurs subdivisions. Ces subdivisions sont présentées en ordre hiérarchique ascendant dans la section alphabétique du livre de sigles, p. ex., Synod Office, Diocese of Saskatchewan, Anglican Church of Canada, Prince Albert.

Dans le sigle, par contre, l'ordre hiérarchique est renversé. Ainsi, SPAASS représente l'établissement précité:

S	Saskatchewan
PA	Prince Albert
A	Anglican Church
S	Diocese of Saskatchewan
S	Synod

Un autre exemple est QMRAD qui représente le Centre de documentation, Institut de recherche appliquée sur le travail, Montréal:

Q	Québec
M	Montréal
RA	Institut de recherche appliquée sur le travail
D	Centre de documentation

Les sigles sont voulus mnémoniques. Toutefois, leur prolifération jointe aux nombreuses modifications apportées aux noms des bibliothèques nous ont contraints maintes fois de dévier de notre mnémotechnique.

The asterisk

The fact that a library is included in Symbols of Canadian Libraries does not necessarily mean that its holdings are also included in the Canadian Union Catalogue. An asterisk following the symbol or preceding the name of the institution indicates that the library has contributed bibliographic records on a regular basis to the manual union catalogue. It has no meaning for the automated catalogue as it might or might not have been validated for use in DOBIS.

L'astérisque

Qu'une bibliothèque soit comprise dans la publication intitulée Sigles des bibliothèques canadiennes ne signifie pas nécessairement que son catalogue se trouve dans le catalogue collectif. Un astérisque doit suivre un sigle ou précéder le nom d'une institution pour que la bibliothèque soit répertoriée dans le catalogue collectif manuel. Par contre, l'astérisque n'a rien à voir avec le catalogue automatisé, le sigle n'étant pas nécessairement validé dans DOBIS.
